that the per cent. shall pay the interest of the outstanding bonds, and it was the intention that the cash fund raised in this manner should be used in paying the interest. Mr. Holt has refused to expend the cash for that purpose, and as a result bondholders have become uneasy, for they have been unable to collect their interest until the property owners pay. Because of the arrangement there is little sale for improvement bonds, and contractors suffer accordingly. City Attorney Scott several months ago decided that there is no law compelling Mr. Holt to use the per cent. of cash payments as interest on bonds, and Mr. Holt has been very careful since to obey the letter of the law. Holders of bonds frequently have to wait six months or a year before collecting interest.

It was thought by the board that perhaps the arrangement had something to do with the high bids which have been offered on public improvements. The West-it would benefit the credit of the city and make it possible to dispose of other improvement bonds. Mr. Scott informed the board that he thought the specifications could be changed, so as to exclude the payment of cash per cent. to Mr. Holt. The bond which contractors have to give, he thought, is sufficient to insure the proper work and to cover the five years' guarantee. It was not so stated, but the change would also prevent the county treasurer from getting the benefit of the cash per cent. There is a new bill which goes into est to the bondholders without delay. Mr.

Holt has the legal right to decline to pay interest upon bonds from the cash guaran-tee fund, but he is being criticised a great by the present arrangement they have to care for many of the bonds.

INDIANA-AVENUE ASPHALT.

The Contract Awarded-Bids on Other

Streets Rejected.

The Board of Works yesterday rejected all bids on the proposed asphalt improvements of Prospect and West streets, decided to exclude hereafter all bids on land asphalt, and to consider no bids upon pitch-lake asphalt which are as high as those offered on Prospect and West streets. Mr.

Holton, at the beginning of the morning session, said the board was unanimous in the opinion that pitch-lake asphalt is superior to land, and hereafter land asphalt will receive no consideration. He said the board was not satisfied with the bids upon Prospect and West streets, and there would be no asphalt pavements laid this season if the same high prices prevailed. He said a land asphalt pavement might be made to last for five years, but after that time would probably be useless, while the pitch lake would be good for many more years. The first business of the morning was the opening of the bids for the asphalting of Indiana avenue from Ohio street to board refused to consider. The board wished to return the bid without reading, but W. L. Taylor, attorney of the company, entered a protest. He said the bid

A Conduit Franchise Once Granted.

IN MEMORY OF DAN L. PAINE.

Press Club Committees-Cremation of Remains To-Day.

There will be brief services at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the chapel of Flanner & Buchanan, on North Illinois street, over the remains of the late Daniel L. Paine. At 11 o'clock the body will be taken to Cincinnati to be cremated. A committee, consisting of Morris Ross, James Whitcomb Riley, Jacob P. Dunn and J. O. Harding, will go to Cincinnati and bring back the ashes of the dead newspaper man. A meeting of the Press Club was held yesterday afternoon to take suitable action. James Whitcomb Riley, H. S. New and Morris Ross were appointed from the club to act as pallbearers. The other three gentlemen who will act in a like capacity, having been old-time friends of Mr. Paine, are E. H. Perkins, J. A. J. Cutting and J. Oscar Harding. A committee to prepare memorial resolutions will consist of Hilton U. Brown, Arthur C. White and T. J. Steele.

Mr. Paine, while at St. Vincent's, kept a diary, and upon examination yesterday it was found to contain a number of choice Was found to contain a number of choice literary bits, including verses. There is a balance left from the fund raised by the Perss Club last year for Mr. Paine's benefit, and the club deems it proper to expend the balance for a memorial. It is yet to be determined whether this diary will be published, or whether the memorial will be published, or whether the memorial will take the shape of a portrait or a grave monument. A committee, composed of John H. Holliday, Hilton U. Brown and Gavin L. Payne, will look after the matter. After the appointment of committees, the club listened to expressions from members. Mr. Riley referred to the kindly and sympathetic nature of the dead journalist whom Riley referred to the kindly and sympathetic nature of the dead journalist, whom he had found to be a gentle, yet heipful, critic. In his devotion to his children, Mr. Paine had shown himself to be both a father and a mother. Messrs. MR. BRUNING'S STORY

LAND CASE ON THE STAND. Objected to His Sister's Marriage Because Copeland Could Not Sup-

PROSECUTING WITNESS IN COPE-

William H. Bruning, the wealthy coffee merchant, who made a target for the sharpshooting of this brother-in-law, William Copeland, while the two were about to submit some litigation to a master commissioner in the office of Miller, Winter & Elam, last spring, was the first witness called by the prosecution in the Criminal Court yesterday. Both sides squabbled over the jury until nearly 11 o'clock. At that hour the men in the box were accepted.

John W. Darnell, John Heard, John Kelly, Henry B. Collay, John W. Scott, William McKinzie, James Dean, A. V. Hightshue, Joshua Edwards, Richard Camplin, John Gulliver, Joseph Kitleman. John W. Scott is a druggist of this city. Mr. Camplin is a shoe dealer and the rest are farmers. On account of the prominence of the Bruning and Copeland families in the State the case is attracting a great deal of attention. Bruning is a wealthy man, a backelor of forty-seven. Copeland recently took up his residence in Chicago to practice law. He was a former resident of Madison, where he and his wife were known in the best society circles. In 1885 Copeland was a member of the Republican branch of the General Assembly. Since 1887 Bruning has lived in New York. Before that he lived at Madison and Evansville. His father was John F. Bruning, a wealthy resident of Madison. For several years he transacted business in Evansville with his son, under the firm name of John F. Bruning & Co. It is obvious that the Bruning family were not particularly pleased with their daughter's selection of a husband. In his opening statement attorney John S. Duncan said it would be shown that Copeland married Miss Bruning for her money. They objected to her marriage because Copeland had no visible means of earning a living for a wife. They also protested against the match because they did not want Clara, ing, the attorney said, told her parents be-fore her marriage that Copeland had an offer of $3,000 a year from an insurance company. This offer, however, falled to materialize. Mr. Duncan detailed several specific acts to show the relations of the brother and sister. After her marriage Mrs. Copeland went to New York to visit her brother, and while there took lessons in painting. Returning to Madison she corresponded with him for a time and then ceased writing. Bruning went to Madison to visit her and found her locked in her room. She declared she would not see him until her husband was present. He left the house and came back when Copeland was there. specific acts to show the relations of the and came back when Copeland was there The latter accused him of robbing his sister and said it would have to be stopped. The estrangement between Bruning and Mrs. Copeland continued until she brought a number of suits against him to recover property. One suit involved a business block in Evansville. Mr. Duncan said it would be shown that Mrs. Copeland had no interest in this property. It was bought by her father and brother as an investment and afterward placed in the daughter's name. Mr. Duncan covered all of the business transactions between the Copelands and Brunings, and, in closing his statement to the jury, dwelt on the culmination of the trouble—the shooting of Bruning. The attorney believed that Copeland came to Indianapolis with the deliberate intention of injuring his brother-in-law.

William H. Bruning, the State's prosecuting witness, was put on the stand at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He has the air and bearing of a well-to-do business man. He scarcely noticed his sister and brother-in-law during the afternoon. They watched a number of suits against him to recover in-law during the afternoon. They watched him closely and occasionally a smile would cross the features of Copeland. Mrs. Copeland gazed steadfastly at her brother. She is an attractive woman of about thirty-five. She wears a close-fitting gown of black lace and a small spring hat. Bruning spoke deliberately, but was interrupted freely, and although he was on the stand nearly two hours he told but little of the trouble bealthough he was on the stand nearly two hours he told but little of the trouble between himself and Copeland. The details of the shooting were not reached yesterday. He first learned that Copeland wanted to marry his sister in February, 1885. He was in Evansville looking after his father's business affairs when a letter reached him from his mother. Mrs. Bruning always wrote to her son in German. The original letter and a translation in English, made by Bruning, were produced by the State and identified by the witness. Attorney Duncan wanted to read the letter, but Judge Browder said it would have to be interpreted by an expert under oath. This letter contained the information that Copeland wanted to marry Miss Bruning. At the time the young lady was visiting a cousin in Mount Pleasant, Ia. Prior to that the witness had no knowledge of an engagement between Copeland and his sister. On receipt of the letter he went to Mount Pleasant. There his sister made a deed to the Evansville property, conveying it, for the consideration of $5, to Catharine Bruning, their mother. The same property had been conveyed to the sister, Nov. 9, 1882. The witness purchased the property with his private funds and had it deeded to her. The property was worth about $6,000. The deed executed at Mount Pleasant, Ia.. in 1885, was made to the mother of the witness at her own request. She desired it taken out of her daughter's hands before the daughter married Copeland. Mrs. Bruning made no attempt to stop the approaching marriage of her daughter. Copeland was in the Legislature at that time and had proposed that the wedding take place then so that his wife could be with him in this city. In her letter to her son Mrs. Bruning spoke of her wife could be with him in this city. In her letter to her son Mrs. Bruning spoke of her objection to the marriage taking place anywhere except at home. The couple were united in Madison, in September, 1885. The witness admitted that he objected to it. He feared that Copeland could not support his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Copeland, after the wedding, indulged in an extended honeymoon, traveling considerably. From the date of Thanksgiving, 1885, until the death of Mrs. Copeland's father, they lived with the Bruning family. In 1889 Copeland went into the lumber business in Madison, using his wife's name. Witness said he indorsed his wife's name. Witness said he indorsed a check for $2,000 to help Copeland get a start. Court adjourned at 5 o'clock until this morning. Bruning will continue his re-cital of the family disturbances to-day.

At the regular monthly meeting yesterday of the Commercial Club directors it was decided to continue the monthly dinners which have proved, it was conceded by all, a valuable feature of the club. There were present President Erwin and Messrs. Von Hake, Ross, Spann, Claypool, Morris, Lilly, Ayers and Fortune. Mr. Claypool remarked that had it not been for the dinner at which the subject of parks was discussed the city would not now have a park commission. The club decided not to accept the invitation of the National Municipal League to become an affiliated member for the reason that the league is more or less in politics and the refusal to join the National Association of Manufacturers was based upon the reason that the club was organized for local purposes. President Erwin, in commenting upon the welfare of the club, said at the conclusion of the meeting to a num-

"I should be very sorry indeed to see the slightest diminution of interest by members of the club. It is an organization peculiarly fitted for the advancement of the city's interests and should attract to it and retain without effort the best elements of the city, not only those who pay the taxes, but those who have thought and have ideas and who are willing, meeting with us, to express them. Its history, while young, is full of interest, covering its activity in obtaining the city charter; its assistance to the first Board of Public Works; in the improvement of the streets; its exposition of paving materials; its successful promotion of the park project through the enactment of laws and the ppointment of a commission. All this points to the usefulness of this organization, and what has been done is really only what should be a beginning in the right direction. It is a question of public spirit and not of dollars and cents. The dues required, being very small, should not detract from its membership, for the credit attending the work of the club reflects favorably upon all its members. At present we are not making much noise but we are doing quietly many little things which I believe tell on our city's prosperity. The club is trying, as best its officers know how, to fulfill the purpose for which it was organized, and is doing it at a considerably reduced expense. The salary account of the secretary's office is half what it has been hitherto. The secretary and the committee on assemblages are working energetically with a view to securing two meetings for Indianapolis, one of which is desirable because of its very great size, and the other because of the peculiar helpful advertising it would give us."

"Is the club's building pretty well filled?"
"Yes. Three-quarters of the rooms are occupied. That one-fourth are vacant is due to the fact that the attractiveness of our building is in the quality of what we have to offer rather than in the price at which we can offer it. The general condition of the club is good. The treasurer's report to-day showed $4,773.82 cash on hand April 30. A report to the directors by the sec-letary showed 855 active and 12 nonresident members. That is a loss of seven since Jan. 31 last. But I cannot understand why our clubrooms are not more generally patronized. The secretary tells me that, time and again, members coming into his office to pay their dues manifest a complete ignorance of what we have on the seventh floor and are amazed when he takes them up there. The reading room is admirably supplied with all the desirable magazines and papers; the billiard room is well equipped and the cafe delightful. The assembly room is always open for meetings of any kind in which one or more members of the club are interested. I wish the rooms were more generally used.

LOCAL ADVANCE IN SUGARS.

Down-Town Retailers Take Advantage of the Jump in Raw Stuff. Down town retail dealers in sugar yesterday took the occasion of the upward jump in the price of raw sugars of twentyfive cents on the hundred pounds to raise the price of granulated sugar so that a dollar would buy only twenty pounds, instead of twenty-three, the quantity that could be bought for a dollar three weeks ago. Local dealers said yesterday that this was a heavier increase than the occasion justified, but that it is probable sugers would go still higher.

"The fruit season is coming on," said one of the leading jobbers, "and then the price of raw sugars in foreign ports is going up. Some think there will be still more of a raise, but I do not believe this tendency upward will last long. The tariff rate is, however, beginning for the first time to make itself felt, because the tremendous stock of raw sugar which the trust bought in anticipation of the present law is now becoming short."

NO DIVIDEND JUST YET.

Receiver Hawkins Surprised at Report from Washington. Receiver Hawkins was asked yesterday about the report sent out from Washington that the Controller of the United dividend of 10 per cent, among the creditors of the Indianapolis National Bank. He said that he had not been notified of such an intention, and that he thought he would have been consulted about it if the Con-troller had intended to make an order. It is not customary, it seems, for the Con-troller to take such action without advice from the receiver, and Mr. Hawkins was therefore inclined to believe that no such order had been made, and that the report was without foundation. "I have been trying very hard," said he,
"to have a dividend ready by May 1, but it is not ready and I have not enough money on hand for such a distribution, therefore none can now be made, though I think it is not far distant in point of time until a dividend can be made.

THE LOYAL LEGION'S ANNUAL.

Indiana Department Will Meet at Fort Wayne This Week. The annual meeting of the Loyal Legion of Indiana at Fort Wayne will be a matter of unusual interest. Manager Bradbury, of the Lake Erie & Western, has tendered a special train to the department which has been accepted. It will leave the Union Station at noon Friday and arrive in Fort Wayne, about 4:30 in the afternoon. General Wallace, department commander; Governor Matthews and members and guests, including ladies, to the number of one hundred will go from this city. Cameron's full band will go with the train and a lunch will be served. While the commandery is holding its busisess meeting, a committee of Fort Wayne ladies, of which the wife of Judge Alden is chairman, will escort the ladies about the city. At the banquet, which will be held at the Randall House, Mayor Oakley will speak for the city of Fort Wayne, and General Wallace will Governor Matthews will speak for the militia; Captain W. W. Dougherty for the regular army and Department Commander Shively for the Grand Army.

Marion County G. A. R. Battalion. George H. Thomas Post had an unusually large meeting last evening. The invitation of the First Bap-tist Church was accepted for Memorial Sun-day on the ground that the post has attended on the other churches inviting since attending the First Baptist.

First Baptist Church Concert. A concert was given last evening at the First Baptist Church for the benefit of the organ fund of Woodruff Place Chapel and was under the direction of Miss Mary Jeffery. There were several on the programme who have been heard with favor at previous entertainments. Mrs. Carolyn Winter Goetz, soprano; Mr. Edward Nell, baritone; Mr. Irving S. Brown, 'cello, and Miss Florence Atkins and Miss Blanche O'Donnell in piano solos, were heard. Miss Atkins has a delicate and graceful style and gave "Au Matin," by Godard, and "Valse Favorite," by Raff, and Miss O'Donnell gave a careful and finished performance of the "S by Chopin. Mr. William Atkins, a young violinist, played a solo, "Scene de Ballet," by DeBeriot. Miss Mary Jeffery, soprano, made her first appearance in concert. Robbed in a Resort.

Last Saturday, about midnight, a telephone message was received at the police station stating that a man had been held up and robbed of $10 on West Court street. The name of the man robbed could not be ascertained. The detectives were detailed on the case, and after a thorough examination learned that a sharper had had an old soldier in tow Saturday night, and had robbed him while in one of the resorts on West Court street. Yesterday detectives Stout and Wilson arrested Charles Miller as the man who did the robbing, but the name of the old soldier cannot be learned.

TRAINMASTER KNAPP DEAD.

He Was One of the Old Officials of the Big Four System. Augustus S. Knapp, trainmaster of the Peoria & Eastern division of the Big Four railway, died at the Grand Hotel about 9:30 o'clock last night. The immediate cause of his death was congestion of the stomach. He suffered a severe attack of the grip in February and never entirely recovered from the effects of the disease. He grew strong enough to leave his room and, against the advice of his friends, attempted to take up his road duties. Three weeks ago he was compelled to take to his bed and steadily declined. J. W. Riley, superintendent of the P. & E. division, was with him when he died. Trainmaster Knapp was fortythree years of age. The position he oc-cupied at his death was held by him for fourteen years. Under the old I., B. & W. system he was known as one of the company's substantia! officials and when the ern Paving and Supply Company has about $10,000 to its credit in the cash account of Big Four took control of the road he was the treasurer's office. Mr. Holt is sup-posed to be deriving the benefit of this amount. The company is not entitled to it retained in the capacity of trainmaster. Mr. Knapp was very popular with railroad employes and was esteemed highly by all of the officials. He came to the L. His wife died two years ago and since then his two-year-old son has been living with a grandmother in Burdett, N. Y. Mr. Knapp had reached the Knight Templar degree in Masonry. NEVER WEARY IN WELL-DOING

The name of the Most Popular and Most Delightful Cigar ever sold in Indiana is

CUBANOLA

Its sales have constantly increased from the day of its introduction, but the makers of CUBANOLA (Powell, Smith & Co., New York), and the sole distributors (A. Kiefer Drug Co., Indianapolis, Ind.), have, like General Grant, determined to "push things," and the CUBANOLA of today, with added excellence

HAS BEEN GREATLY INCREASED IN SIZE.

This makes it, in every respect, the BEST FIVE-CENT CIGAR ever known in America. Ask your dealer for it.
